Write a summary of the poem "Where the Mind is Without Fear".

Rabindranath Tagore's (1861-1941) poem "Where the Mind is Without Fear" (1910) is a prayer for freedom and progress. It paints a picture of an ideal world where people live with dignity, truth, and unity. The poem inspires us to build a better society. Here is the summary in simple points:

A World Without Fear: Tagore dreams of a world where people are fearless and proud. He wants everyone to hold their heads high with self-respect. Knowledge should be free for all, and no one should be stopped from learning. He asks for a world without divisions like caste, religion, or borders. People should live together as one.

Truth and Hard Work: The poet values honesty. He wants words to come from the heart, full of truth. People should work hard to achieve perfection and never give up. Striving for excellence should be a way of life. He believes this effort will make life meaningful.

Reason and Progress: Tagore wishes for clear thinking. He asks us to leave old, useless habits and follow reason. He imagines a world where the mind grows and takes bold steps forward. He prays for freedom that leads to new ideas and positive action.

In this prayer, Tagore addresses God as "Father." He asks for guidance to create this "heaven of freedom." The poem encourages everyone to strive for a fearless, united, and enlightened world. Its message is timeless and inspires us to live with courage, wisdom, and kindness.
