

Intimations of Immortality Quotes

Writer: William Wordsworth | Generated: Jan 26, 2026

*"The Rainbow comes and goes,
And lovely is the Rose".*

Explanation:

This line represents the transient beauty of nature and its fleeting moments of glory.

*"Mighty Prophet! Seer blest!
On whom those truths do rest".*

Explanation:

The line means that the prophet (child) is a blessed visionary who holds divine truths.

*"As if his whole vocation
Were endless imitations."*

Explanation:

This line suggests that the speaker views childhood as when a person's primary purpose is to imitate and learn from the world around them.

*Whither is fled the visionary gleam?
Where is it now, the glory and the dream?*

Explanation:

In these lines, the poet laments the loss of childhood wonder and innocence. He questions where it has gone.
