

It is a Beauteous Evening, Calm and Free Characters

Writer: William Wordsworth | Generated: Jan 26, 2026

Major Characters

The Poet (William Wordsworth) The poem is narrated by the poet himself, William Wordsworth. He describes his experience during a walk with his daughter.

The Daughter (Caroline) Wordsworth's daughter is a central character in the poem. She is a young child accompanying her father on the evening walk by the sea. Her presence highlights the contrast between her innocence and the beauty of nature.

Minor Characters

Nature: Although not a traditional character, nature plays a significant role in the poem. The serene evening and the sea are described vividly, almost as if they are characters themselves, providing a backdrop to the father-daughter interaction.

God: The poet sees God in the tranquillity and grandeur of the natural world, emphasizing his spiritual connection with it.
