

Poem in October Characters

Writer: Dylan Thomas | Generated: Jan 26, 2026

"Poem in October" is an iconic poem by Dylan Thomas. The poem doesn't have specific characters in the traditional sense; it does personify elements of nature and the poet himself.

Dylan Thomas

The poet is the poem's central character. He is the one experiencing and narrating the day's events, reflecting on his past and his connection to nature.

Nature

Nature is a principal character in the poem. It is personified as the sea, the hills, the trees, and the animals. Nature plays an influential role in setting the tone and atmosphere of the poem, as well as in shaping the poet's emotions and memories.

The Sun

The sun is cited as a character that wakes up the day and lights up the poet's trip through the town and into the hills.

Town and People

The poem briefly mentions the city where the poet resides and the people there. They are part of the background against which the poet's reflections occur.

Friends and Loved Ones

Although not explicitly named, the poet indicates the presence of friends and loved ones in his life. They are not developed as characters but are displayed as part of the poet's memories and feelings on his birthday.